The tool is wrapped in a clean interface with an intuitive layout. Alternatively, you can delete data beyond recovery, by using special software. However, before doing so, it is possible to view a list of all found items which are considered "junk" by The Mop, in order to create an exclusion list. This can be done after carefully studying file names and sizes, occupied space on the disk, last data of modification, and reason. The final step of the program reveals results. A few customization options are available.
